WELCOME

„... when I catch sight of the huge eyes of the towers of the church building Nagytemplom, with its defiantly shouting mouth, its eyebrows and the shaggy bushes of acanthus leaves, I feel moved by some emotion incomparable to anything else.”

These are the words of the late local writer Magda Szabó, who was proud of her Debrecen citizenship all through her life, about Nagytemplom, one of the emblematic buildings of her hometown. We, the citizens of Debrecen, also nourish an attachment to our city, which is “incomparable to anything else.” This is a feeling that does not let us leave easily and always pulls us back when we are too far away. We just love our city, and this is the feeling that we wish to convey to those who come to visit Debrecen. The gist of our touristic strategy is to provide meaningful experiences, which is not difficult at all with the legion of historical sites we cherish: starting with the towers of Nagytemplom, through our Reformed College, where Zsigmond Móricz’s protagonist, Misi Nyilas, climbed up the stairs, to the age-old trees of the park called Nagyerdő [Big Forest], underneath which the Hungarian poet Endre Ady was wont to sit so often.

Debrecen is proud of its past as well as of its future. Besides its historical heritage, which dates back to hundreds of years, the wonderful Nagyerdő area, the sports and leisure facilities, the exquisite hotels and restaurants of the city are equally worth checking out. Debrecen is the most dynamically developing touristic center of its immediate region. The continuously increasing volume of travelers from Debrecen International Airport can now reach as many as 14 individual destinations all over the world through scheduled flights. The number of guest nights spent in hotels and other commercial accommodation facilities is also on the increase and, just last year, it exceeded 400 thousand. Debrecen is also a favorite destination for business and conference tourism. A special feature of the downtown area is that Kölcsey Convention Center and Hotel Lycium are located in the same building complex, so the participants of various conferences can conveniently attend the sessions and find accommodation under the same roof. Our new stadium, Nagyerdei stadion also offers a unique experience in this respect, as it can host minor conferences in addition to being home for sports events. Next to the stadium, you will find the one and only Ködszínház [Mist Theater] and Parkerdő [Park Forest] in Hungary, which are planned to be complemented soon with the newly redesigned outdoor swimming pool complex. As regards the downtown community spaces, they cater to the entertainment needs of the general public every night. There is something happening in our city almost every weekend: festivals, family events, concerts, theater performances, art openings and exhibitions are all on the bill of fare. Debrecen is indeed an exciting, youthful and trendy city. We hope that you’ll like it, too.

László Papp
Mayor of Debrecen

DEBR

ABSOLUTELY INNOVATIVE

The second largest city in Hungary is not only a cultural, spiritual, economic, transportation and scholarly-scientific center of its broader region but also an excellent touristic and conference destination. During the course of the past couple of years, the innovation-driven and knowledge-based branches of industry have become more and more decisive here, and our city has evolved into a stronghold of chiefly pharmaceuticals, information technology and electronics. In addition to these fields, innovation may give an efficient impulse and support to the development of agriculture and the food industry as well.

Today, Debrecen is recognized as a primary conference center, owing to which our city hosts several hundred minor or major events every year, including academic, business-related, professional, cultural, religious and civic functions. The most outstanding among the venues for these events is Kölcsey Center, the second largest conference and convention center in Hungary, which is fitted with state-of-the-art technical equipment.

The touristic capacity of our city makes it possible to host conferences of even 1500 participants and international sports competitions with thousands of viewers. In Debrecen, you can stay in four or five-star hotels, offering exquisite gastronomical experiences and top-quality services.

THIS IS DEBRECEN

The city of Debrecen is a settlement with lots of places of interest, which can simultaneously conjure up the sparkling and seductive atmosphere of the beginning of the 1900s and the dynamic metropolitan milieu of the 21st century. Its buildings of diverse architectural styles, its streets, which could tell you stories of old if they could talk, and its main thoroughfare, Piac Street, which used to be the location for the city's widely renowned trade fairs, all contribute to this significantly.

A quick list of must-see attractions includes the imposing Reformed Great Church building on the main square of the city, the prestigious college Debrecen Reformed College, founded in and operating since 1538, the depository of Déri Museum, which is full of outstanding exhibits of culture and fine arts, the center for modern and contemporary art called MODEM, the 150-year-old Csokonai National Theater and the Baroque St. Anne's Cathedral. Thanks to the combination of historical buildings and the unique natural environment, complemented with new attractions implemented through continuous developments, our city becomes ever more popular with tourists and visitors year by year.

Another crowd-pleasing destination is the park in the Nagyerdő area, with the stadium, the thermal baths and the surroundings of the pond called Békás Lake. If you like adventure, you can try climbing the wall of the old water tower, Víztorony, which has been recently transformed into an entertainment complex, while its colorful evening lightshow is coupled with the spectacles of the nearby Mist Theater to leave you with unforgettable memories. As a bonus, this is also where you find the city zoo, displaying all the indigenous animals of the Carpathian Basin and a variety of species from the rest of the continents outside Europe.

Two section halls next to each other can be united if necessary, so they can easily seat as many as 160 people for a relatively major function.

BALLROOM

In addition to conferences, the Ballroom on the first floor is a perfect choice for wedding ceremonies, receptions, balls, corporate functions, minor concerts and chamber theater performances.

IKON. TRADITION WITH A DIFFERENCE

You will have noticed how people get closer to one another through the experience of preparing and eating food together. Good cooking indeed warms the cockles of your heart. For this, you “only” need a restaurant. A restaurant where fresh, local and seasonal ingredients are used. In a respectful and humble fashion. A restaurant where the basics are purchased from local farms and artisans because it is truly understood and believed that the raw materials are the most important items. A place where the staff members are kind and capable. A place where they try to make food in a way that is not almost as good as at home but much better, because this is their mission and vocation. A place where the kitchen door is wide open for the guests of the restaurant. A place where everybody is proud of what they create.

2 TOKAJ

The region called Tokaj-Hegyalja became the foremost wine-producing area in Hungary following the Turkish occupation of the region Szerémség, and it practically acquired international fame almost overnight. Commercial trading with wine from Tokaj then began as early as the 16th and 17th centuries. In 1737, a royal decree had to be issued for the protection of Tokay wine. Thus, the first ever closed wine region in the world was born. Through this measure, Tokay reached the status by the 18th century that no other domestic wine could: it became the favorite drink of the most powerful rulers and emperors. It is no surprise then that, in 2002, UNESCO admitted 27 settlements of Tokaj Historical Wine Region to the list of World Heritage locations in the category of cultural landscapes for the feat of preserving the viniculture traditions of the past thousand years in their original form.
